10 Top Tips for Parents and Educators

ENCOURAGING CHILDREN TO CHOOSE RESPECT

Sometimes, differences between children can escalate into bullying, potentially impacting their mental health in a way that can persist into adulthood. While it's natural to disagree sometimes, teaching children the importance of respect is essential – especially in difficult situations. This guide provides strategies for encouraging considerate behaviour, even during a dispute, to foster a kinder, more inclusive environment for everyone.

1 LEAD BY EXAMPLE

As adults, we play a crucial role in modelling respectful behaviour for children: they observe and learn from our actions every day. Be mindful of the way you interact with others in front of children. Keep in mind that you should always approach others with an attitude of mutual respect, even if you disagree with them. Demonstrating this behaviour can influence young people and help them to handle their own conflicts in a healthy way.

2 AGREE TO DISAGREE

Make sure children know that it's fine to have differing opinions – and that disagreeing with someone doesn't mean you can't get along or respect each other's point of view. Help them understand that sometimes we can 'agree to disagree'. Using active listening skills when doing this can also help to build empathy and understanding of others.

3 PROMOTE ACTIVE LISTENING

Teach children about the importance of active listening: that is, making a genuine effort to listen to the other person's perspective without interrupting, before responding in a way that shows you understand their viewpoint, even (or perhaps especially) if you disagree with it. This makes people feel respected and allows for a better comprehension of their point of view, which in turn can make it easier for you to communicate your own opinions to them.

4 ENCOURAGE THE USE OF "I" STATEMENTS

If a child finds themselves in a disagreement with someone, it can be useful to encourage them to use "I" statements during the discussion. Framing their thoughts and feelings using statements like "I feel ..." or "I think ..." can help them avoid an accusatory tone and encourages them to take responsibility for their own emotions.

5 FOCUS ON BEHAVIOUR, NOT CHARACTER

When disagreements happen, encourage children to focus on critiquing and addressing the specific actions or behaviours that caused this upset, rather than attacking the person's character. For example, "I didn't like how you interrupted me" is better than "You're so rude". This can help children avoid hurting someone's feelings, which is likely to inflame the situation.

6 STAY CALM AND TAKE BREAKS

It's perfectly normal to feel upset during a disagreement – especially if it's getting heated. Remind children that if they feel overwhelmed, they should try to take deep breaths or even go for a short break to help them stay composed. If a conversation becomes too intense, remind them it's OK to suggest continuing it later or in a different setting. This can prevent things getting out of hand, allowing cooler heads to prevail.

7 START CONVERSATIONS ABOUT RESPECT

Talk openly to children about what respect means – to you and to them. Discuss how they might show respect to each other, to friends, to strangers and even to people we might disagree with. You could use examples of considerate or inconsiderate behaviour in books, films or TV to open discussions about the importance of giving others due regard.

8 SEEK COMMON GROUND

When a disagreement has occurred between children, they may find it hard to move past it. You can support them in finding a more positive way forward by helping identify areas of agreement or common ground with the other party. This can help to build bridges between differing opinions and foster a more cooperative atmosphere, as well as preventing those involved from demonising each another.

9 AVOID MAKING THINGS PERSONAL

It's important that we make it clear to children they must avoid name-calling, swearing or derogatory remarks in a disagreement with others. Respectful language sets a positive tone and helps keep the conversation productive. Reminding children to stay calm and take breaks – as mentioned previously – can help them avoid getting too emotional and saying or doing something hurtful.

10 REFLECT AND LEARN

After a child has had a disagreement, encourage them to reflect on the experience and think about what they can learn from it. What did they handle well? How might they improve their communication skills to handle conflicts more effectively in the future? You could use role play, writing and drawing pictures, or hypothetical examples to further develop their skills in showing respect during a disagreement.

Making Derbyshire Safer Together

Your local Safer Neighbourhood Team have a process that they have to go through when dealing with anti-social behaviour. The process starts with a first warning letter to make parents aware and get them on board in addressing their child's behaviour. A second warning letter can be issued which again encourages parents to work with Police to address their child's behaviour.

Should this behaviour continue, they can then be issued with an anti-social behaviour warning contract. An ABC is a written voluntary agreement between a person who has been involved in or is likely to be involved in ASB and the Council and/or Police. They are commonly used for young people (between the ages of 10 and 17). An ABC will be agreed and signed at a meeting with the individual and the lead agencies.

This is a voluntary agreement requiring cooperation from all parties. The ABC sets out what is and what is not acceptable behaviour. Whilst there is no legal redress for breaching an ABC, it may address the problem early, or if not provide evidence that can be used subsequently in an application for further legal orders. Certain conditions can be placed on ABC's stating how many people they can be with at one time, restrictions on who they can and cannot hang around with, where they can or cannot go. These contracts can be put in place for a period of 3,6,9 or 12months. Should the child be a resident of social housing a copy also gets sent to their housing provider as ant-social behaviour is a breach of their parent's tenancy.

The Police can also complete referrals to Immediate Justice and Turn Around Programme to provide further support to young people.

Should their behaviour continuously progress the Police can then apply for a Criminal Behaviour Order (CBOs). These are court orders to tackle persistently antisocial individuals convicted of an offence. Breaching a CBO can lead to up to 5 years in prison and or a fine of up to £5,000.

Anti-social Behaviour

Please continue to report incidents of anti-social behaviour to help us to ensure we are aware of your concerns and to help us to plan our patrol strategies to ensure we are in the right areas to address them.

Please report this by phoning 101 but please also report this to your Community Safety Partnership by scanning the below QR code.

Op Sceptre – Campaign Edition

Monday 11th November – Sunday 17th November 2024

Op Sceptre is a national weeklong initiative to tackle knife and knife-enable crime. During this week, your Safer Neighbourhood Team will be out and about conducting retail visits. They will be speaking to workers ensuring that if they sell knives they are using Challenge 25 when necessary and displaying educational posters.

They will work closely with schools to educate young people about the dangers of knife crime. The campaign works with those at risk of becoming involved with knife crime, diverting them towards a better life, through explaining the consequences of carrying/using knives for the wrong purpose.

Your local team will also be conducting street meets with the knife amnesty bin, which gives residents the oportunity to surender any unwanted knives, to help keep them off the streets and possibly falling into the wrong hands.
